We lived across the street from each other for years. I loved her family, especially her mother. Dale was more studious than most of the people I knew back then. I used to love to hear her laugh. We both graduated from Eastern. Once I left the neighborhood I never saw her again. I never wanted it to be that way. I pray the Ancestors welcome her warmly. It hurt to hear this. Blessings to the family.

Coppin 1970

Coppin celebrates Gandhi's anniversary with a program to his tribute. The guest speaker was Dr. Norman Palmer, professor of Political Science and Southeast Asian Studies at the University of Pennsylvania.

The library receives a new book about the Gandhi.

Dale Parker, above, and Mary, below, were very competent hostesses for the program. To add flavor to the event, the girls were dressed in authentic Indian costumes loaned to them by Dr. Raval, a college instructor.

Dear Nikia, Anissa and Family,
We offer our deepest and dearest condolences on your loss. May her memory live on through you, her grandchildren and all those that she touched. I remember meeting your mom back in the late 90s... Was fun meeting her.. She was a sweet firecracker! 😊
Thinking of you all and have you in our prayers for strength and resilience.

I was saddened to find out this way of the passing of Ms.Parker- Brown. I had the pleasure of working with her at school headquarters. Such a beautiful spirit, humble person, beautiful smile always a kind word for me. My prayers are with the family and I encourage you to look to the hills from whence cometh your help.

I have known Dale since she grew up in our Sandtown/Winchester neighborhood on Monroe Street. Her mom reared she and Guy mainly as a single-mother. Dale also attended Coppin the same time I was there. She was always a thoughtful and sweet person that warmed up to persons with whom she came in contact. She matured under the direction and love of her mom who we called "Mrs. Parker.

Blessings and condolences to her family and know that she lived a purposeful life and has transitioned to a better place. RIP
